Open the course for Digital Citizenship. Under the Curriculum tab, you will find the lessons and assessment. Below is the information located on the Overview tab:

“Digital Citizenship is a concept which helps teachers, technology leaders and parents to understand what students/children/technology users should know to use technology appropriately. Digital Citizenship is more than just a teaching tool; it is a way to prepare students/technology users for a society full of technology. Digital citizenship is the norms of appropriate, responsible technology use. Too often we are seeing students as well as adults misusing and abusing technology but not sure what to do. The issue is more than what the users do not know but what is considered appropriate technology usage.” (Source: <http://www.digitalcitizenship.net>)

When you get on a computer, always ask yourself, “Am I using this computer, technology, and the Internet correctly?” No matter if you are a K-12 student, or an adult, there are proper ways to use technology. As adults, we have a responsibility to teach minors that proper use.

There are four lessons and an assessment associated with this course. You will be required to earn an 80% or better on the assessment to pass.

Lessons:

Social Issues of Digital Citizenship

Ethical Issues of Digital Citizenship

Legal Issues of Digital Citizenship

Human Issues of Digital Citizenship

These lessons are by no means an exhaustive course on Digital Citizenship, but to “wet your whistle” in wanting to learn more about this topic for your classes.

Bottom line. Respect yourself and others.
